

Prayer Team Bulletin | January 2026

Written By David E. Smith

Faithful citizenship in our self-governing republic flows from our love for God and neighbor. Scripture calls us to seek the welfare of our communities, to pray for those in authority, and to pursue what is good, just, and peaceable. As Christians, we engage the public square not out of fear or anger, but out of obedience and hope—trusting that self-government requires self-control shaped by God’s truth. Biblical citizenship means living with humility, speaking with grace, and acting with courage, always remembering that our ultimate allegiance is to Christ, the true King.

Given the level of political violence and mob action happening in Minneapolis, Portland and previously in Chicago, we must lift our federal law enforcement agents and leaders in prayer.

Ask the Lord to grant them divine protection as they serve in high-risk, high-stakes environments—shielding them from physical harm, deception, and spiritual attack, including discouragement. Pray that their resolve would be strengthened and that they would be given courage, wisdom, and discernment in every decision, especially in moments of crisis and moral challenge.

We must also pray for the protection of their families, as godless agitators seek to dox, intimidate, and bully spouses, children, and even church communities.

Pray against the forces of chaos and division that seek to sow hostility between federal law enforcement and the communities they serve. Ask that reason and moral clarity would invade the hearts and minds of elected officials, guiding their words and actions to be rooted in truth, mercy, and accountability. Pray that God would turn hearts toward cooperation, understanding, and mutual respect, so justice may be pursued with both strength and grace.

Finally, pray for the men and women who place their physical and mental well-being on the line each day—and who are willing to make the ultimate sacrifice for peace and security. Pray that they would lean heavily on the Lord in these days of conflict, sensing His presence, His strength, and His sustaining love despite relentless physical and verbal abuse.

Christians cannot remain silent while lawlessness spreads. Pray without ceasing, speak the truth without fear, and stand firmly for justice grounded in God’s Word. What we tolerate today will define the nation we leave to our children and grandchildren.
